English for bartenders

1. Greet him and ask what he would like

Hi there! I have no idea what to order.	No problem. What do you usually like?

- Hi there! What can I get you?
- Can I see your ID, please?
- Are you ready to order?
- Take your time.

2. Recommend something not too sweet and ask how he wants it

What do you recommend? Something not too sweet.	I'd recommend a gin and tonic. It's dry.
Is it sweet?	Not really. Would you like it with ice?
On the rocks, please. A single.	One gin and tonic, a single, on the rocks.

- Are you looking for something sweet or dry?
- I'd recommend a gin and tonic. It's not too sweet.
- Would you like it on the rocks?
- A single or a double?
- Draft or bottle?

3. Start a tab on his room

Can you put it on my room? Room 512.	Sure. Can I have your name, please?
Nick. I left my key card upstairs.	That's okay. Room 512, under Nick.

- Would you like to start a tab?
- What's your room number, please?
- Can I have your name and your key card?
- I'll put it on your room.
- Do you want to pay now or open a tab?

4. Tell him it is last call

Great bar. How late are you open?	Until midnight. Last call is in ten minutes.

- Last call in ten minutes.
- Can I get you anything else?

5. Say no kindly to one more and say goodnight

Come on, just one more?	I'm sorry, we're closed. Can I get you some water?
Fair enough. Thanks for everything.	You're welcome. Good night!

- I'm sorry, we're closed. Last call was a few minutes ago.
- I can't serve you another one, but I can get you some water.
- How about a coffee?
- Good night, enjoy your stay!
