English for kitchen staff

1. Say the first order back to the head cook

Table six: two burgers, no onions. Go!	Two burgers, no onions. Heard.

- Two burgers, no onions. Heard.
- Yes, chef.
- Table six, two burgers. Got it.

2. Ask him to say the fast order again

Table four: two soups, one house salad, dressing on the side, wipe down station three.	Sorry, can you say that again?
You with me?	I didn't catch the last part.

- Sorry, can you say that again?
- Can you say it more slowly, please?
- I didn't catch the last part.
- I don't know yet. Can you show me?

3. Say it back and ask where something is

Slower. Two soups, one house salad. Then wipe down station three.	Two soups, one salad. Where are the bowls?
Bowls are on the shelf above the dish station.	Thanks, chef. Got it.

- Two soups, one salad, dressing on the side.
- Where are the soup bowls?
- Where do the clean pans go?
- Is the salad in the walk-in?

4. Say the third order back and tell him the fries are running out

Table nine: one chicken sandwich, extra sauce.	One chicken sandwich, extra sauce. Heard.
Where are we on fries?	We're almost out of fries.
Good catch. Two bags from the walk-in. Bottom shelf, blue box.	Two bags, blue box. On it.

- One chicken sandwich, extra sauce. Heard.
- We're almost out of fries.
- We're out of onions.
- Should I get more from the walk-in?

5. Say an order is ready and warn him you are behind him

Where's table six?	Table six is ready.
Can you take this pan?	Sure. Hot, coming through!

- Table six is ready.
- Order up!
- Behind you!
- Hot! Coming through.
- Careful, it's sharp.

Work a kitchen rush with an English-speaking head cook, an AI chatbot: kotokin.com/learn/english/english-for-kitchen-staff